OF PEACE DELEGATES

REPRESENTATIVES OF TURKEY AND ALLIED BALKAN NA-TIONS WILL MEET IN LONDON.

GREEKS STILL FIGHT

Reports Come of Disturbances Along Coast of Epirus and Turks Refuse to Recognize Greek Peace Envoys.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, Dec. 13.—The formal work of the peace delegates who represent the Ottoman empire and the allied Balkan nations, who began on Monday, will be interrupted by the outbreak of discussions which, if successful, will have the effect of re-making the map of the near east. When the plenipotentiaries gather in the historic St. James palace they will find themselves amid surroundings most conducive to peace.

The picture gallery which has been selected as the conference room is the most secluded apartment in the palace. It overlooks a century old grass-grown plot of ground in a quadrangle entirely shut off from the turmoil of the London streets. On the gallery walls are hung portraits of the English sovereigns from Henry the 8th to that of Edward "the peacemaker" in a prominent position.

A long table stretches down the middle of the gallery and on this are placed silver-mounted portfolios for all the plenipotentiaries and a massive silver inkstand which was presented by Charles II. to his privy councilor.

The mantelpieces at each end of the gallery are ornamented with quaint bronze candleabra of the early Georgian period, the principal feature of which is formed by massive bronze figures holding aloft garlands of peace.

Offensive Movement.
Athens, Dec. 13.—A general offensive movement along the whole line was begun on Wednesday by the Greek army operating in Epirus, the most westerly portion of the Balkan peninsula. After repeated attacks the Greek troops occupied at the point of the bayonet, the Turkish advance post towards the Dassal fortifications and camped there.

The Greeks captured three quick firing guns, a large quantity of war material and many cannons. General Sapountzakis who was in command of the Greek army reports from Pentegetia that his troops fought with vigor during the entire day.

Report a Skirmish.
With the view of drawing off a portion of the Turkish troops concentrated in the fortress of Janina, when the Greeks were about to make their attack, two battalions of Greek infantry supported by four field guns were landed at Santa Puarantani to the north west of Janina.

The excursion was successfully carried out. The Turks as soon as they learned of the landing of the Greek troops sent out eight battalions with two batteries of siege guns to engage them. After a short battle the Greek troops were re-embarked and made for another part of the coast of Epirus. The Greek lost only five killed and nineteen wounded.

Oppose Greece's Attitude.
Constantinople, Dec. 13.—The Turkish delegates to the peace conference in London have been instructed by the Ottoman government to decline to meet the Greek delegates until Greece has signed the armistice.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

TENURE OF OFFICE
MADE MORE SECURE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Wis., Dec. 13.—That the tenure of office is more secure under the civil service than under the political appointive system is brought out plainly in the annual report of the state civil service commission just filed with the governor. The comparison shows that under civil service the newly elected officers in 1907 and 1909 obtained practically all their employees from the competitive class. The principal changes effected were of persons in the exempt class. Of 171 persons employed in 1904, before the civil service law went into effect, only 28 were holdovers. The percentage of holdovers between 1900 and 1904 under the political system was 51.32 percent, as compared with 41.36 percent for the period 1906-1910.

Several departments of state government are analyzed to show the effects of political change. In the office of the secretary of state in 1894, twenty-three persons were employed. Of these, seventeen were not on the payroll in 1890. The report for this same year shows that all engineers and firemen who were in the service in 1890 went out, and that six new engineers and firemen were employed as carpenters, painters and policemen went out. In the departments of the superintendent of public property and of all elective officers, including the department of the insurance commissioner, attorney general and state treasurer, there was a clean sweep.

Ten names on the payroll of the state treasurer in 1891 were not on the payroll in 1894. Seven persons employed in the office of the state superintendent left the service in 1891, and seven others took their places. This was a clean sweep.

Of twenty-five persons on the payroll of the secretary of state in 1896, only one name appeared on the payroll in 1894. In 1894, only two names on the payroll of the state treasurer in 1896, eight persons went out.

In 1903 the newly elected superintendent displaced the first assistant, all four school inspectors, the library clerk and one stenographer. Of fourteen names on the payroll of the state treasurer in 1900, only two were employed in 1896. Of twenty-three names on the payroll of the secretary of state in 1900, only seven were employed in 1896.

Secretary F. E. Doty shows the comparative daily cost of legislative employees in nine states, and that Wisconsin ranks the lowest, spending $212 for the same work Iowa paid $264.62, Oregon $265.72, Minnesota $218.69, Illinois $291.47, California $298.50, Pennsylvania $117.2, and Maryland $117.2. Of these states Wisconsin is the only one under civil service.

CONSOLIDATION PLAN
ATTACKED BY SHOLTS

State Game Warden Declares Merger
of His Department With Others Would Dissipate Its Effectiveness.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Dec. 13.—Declaring that the state game warden department as now reorganized is reaching a highwater mark in its protection of fish and game, and that a merger with other state commissions aiming at conservation would dissipate the effectiveness of its administration, State Game Warden John A. Sholts took issue with the advocates of the consolidation plan, in an interview today.

Against his general rule of avoiding discussions in the press, he said, he spoke today because he felt the fish and game department had been misrepresented in the printed reports.

Department Self-supporting.
"The article telling of a proposed merger of departments would lead the people in general to believe that this department was supported by appropriations by the legislature," he said, "when in fact it not only supports itself but has a little surplus to be used for the purpose the sportsmen intended."

"The consolidation plan is intended to absorb the money received by this department and divert it from the use to which it is given by sportsmen of the state. For the past year the sportsmen have been organizing to strengthen this department and they are in favor of the propagation of fish and game to the fullest extent the receipts will permit. Already the lead has been taken by Wisconsin fish and game clubs representing practically all the sportsmen of the state towards establishing breeding places for game and using whatever surplus money remains for that purpose."

Would Consult Voters.
"Under the laws of the state every game warden is already a fish warden, his duties pertaining to the protection of forests as well as of fish and game."

"Before moving in the matter outlined in the press reports, it would be well to consult the sportsmen of the state who are more interested in the protection of fish and game and in the preservation of the forests than are any other classes of men in the state."

Behind the game warden department of this state there are over 200,000 voters. It would be well to consult these men before moving to consolidate this department with others. Knowing little about the details of the proposed consolidation plan, I cannot say much further at this time, but I will add, however, that there are people in the capitol outside of this department who do not favor the consolidation as proposed."

BRITISH ANTARCTIC EXPEDITION STARTS

Sails Tomorrow From Christchurch,
New Zealand, With Object of Bringing Back Explorers.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Christchurch, New Zealand, Dec. 13.—The ship Terra Nova will sail tomorrow for the Antarctic region with the object of bringing back Captain Scott and his associates of the British expedition of the South Pole. Captain Scott was last heard from on January 4 last, at which time the Polar party were only 145 miles from the goal of their hopes, and were travelling at the rate of 15 miles a day. All being well the Pole should therefore have been reached about January 15 last. The party were expected back at Hut Point, where the Terra Nova was waiting for them, about March 15. But on March 5 the sea was freezing so rapidly that the ship's commander considered it unwise to remain longer, owing to the hourly increasing risk that the ship would be frozen in. It is supposed that Captain Scott and his companions returned to the winter quarters about the end of March. No further news can be received from him until the Terra Nova again returns from the far South about the end of next March.

MORRIN QUESTIONED
AS TO APPROVAL OF
THE ACTION TAKEN

Witness in Conspiracy Trial Asked if He Approved of Seidel Speech and Protest Against Mc-Namara's Arrest.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Indianapolis, Dec. 13.—Whether he approved of a speech read by Emil Seidel of Milwaukee, in which Seidel denounced the court for the arrest of John J. McNamara as kidnapped, and whether he approved of a protest against the kidnapping sent to Samuel Gompers, president of American Federation of Labor were questions asked Paul J. Morrin, St. Louis a defendant in the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today. Five months after McNamara's arrest and while he was confined in jail at Los Angeles, Morrin was present as a delegate. "Did you see Mayor Seidel introduced to the convention by Frank D. Ryan, the president, and did you approve of Seidel's speech denouncing the court and branding McNamara's arrest as a kidnapping?"

Visits made by some of the defendants to the scenes of explosions of non-union jobs were explained at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today. Paul J. Morrin, St. Louis, testified that three weeks after the work of an "open shop" contractor at St. Vernon, Ill., was blown up in April, 1910, he was instructed by John J. McNamara, then secretary of the Iron Workers' International Union, to unionize the men. He said he found a reward was offered for the dynamiter and he so wrote to McNamara. Explaining the phrase, "aerial performances" Morrin said he used in referring not to explosions, but the men being up in the air, whether they were to get work. Orrie E. McManigal confessed to causing the Mt. Vernon explosion. Previously Frank D. Ryan, president of the union had written to McNamara, "Morrin can take care of Mt. Vernon," but Ryan denied it concerned dynamiting. Morrin said that after McNamara's arrest he assisted in raising a defense fund. He said he arranged to have a moving picture show representing McNamara as being kidnapped by authorities.

Would Build One Across Wolfe River.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Appleton, Dec. 13.—A storage reservoir with a capacity of four billion cubic feet of water located twenty miles up the Wolfe river is proposed by the manufacturers of the Fox River valley.

That was the object of the meeting last night held at the office of the Green Bay and Mississippi canal company, which was attended by a number of manufacturers. The project has progressed so far that it was proposed to get the matter before the legislature at the coming session, legislation being necessary to carry on the project. It is estimated that it will cost $200,000 to construct the dam, the expense to be divided among the plants benefited according to their heads.

ARMY OF GERMAN TEXTILE EMPLOYEES OUT OF WORK

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Idenburg, Germany, Dec. 13.—Twenty thousand textile workers have been let out by the Muensterland district employers' association, owing to the strike for an increase of wages for the workmen employed at a local cotton mill.

The government declared that the act of the association complained of was in derogation of the common right of all the people of the United States and in violation of the Sherman law. The attorney general asked for injunctions against the continuance. The individual defendants are officers or directors of the association. The firms and persons comprising the association handle it, it is pointed out, the products of candy manufacturers of the New York, New Jersey, Maryland and Pennsylvania and other states.

PROSECUTIONS HAVE EFFECT ON FIREBUGS

Number of Fires Attributed to This Cause is Decreasing Each Year
In This State.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Dec. 13.—Adjusters and officials report that the activities of the state and local fire marshals in investigating and prosecuting firebugs is having an appreciable effect on the operations of such men. The Wisconsin department is satisfied that the number of fires from this source is decreasing from year to year owing to the activity of the department. As in the case of the recent developments of the Waukesha hotel fire, the investigation of which has been going on continuously for almost two years, a relentless stirring up of the suspected parties from time to time has a salutary effect on the criminally-minded class in that and other communities. The department keeps a complete record of the investigation of each fire, and these records are becoming more valuable each year. The "repeating" driven from Wisconsin by fear of detection, or by inability to secure insurance. Over-insurance is the primary cause in most cases.

State Fire Marshal T. M. Purtil has been continuously in the field directing operations against the suspected "bugs," and his staff is equally busy in chasing down clues. Many commendatory editorials of his work have recently been printed in insurance journals. The Mutual Insurance Journal of Pennsylvania for November said of him: "Mr. Purtil is one of the most active and efficient fire marshals in the country, and is doing a good work in sending out pertinent fire prevention circulars in his state that his message may reach the general public. They are a means of accomplishing much good."

Washington, Dec. 13.—Two governors of the New York exchange today told the house "money trust" investigating committee that at least a part of the transactions in the stock market were of a gambling nature. Frank K. Sturgis and Rudolph Keppeler, were the witnesses under examination. Both are former presidents of the exchange.

"It is not part of my duty to urge moral reform," said Mr. Sturgis. He took the same stand as to manipulation of stock to a higher or lower level by cross sale and purchases, declaring that the exchange as such did not recognize transactions. Mr. Sturgis held that the duty of the stock exchange toward the public was only to see that a proper place is maintained for buying and seeing and that proper restrictions are observed.

EMPLOYEES OF ROAD MUST PASS TESTS

Northwestern Railroad Has Instituted System of Examinations for Men in Passenger Service.

As an additional safeguard to passenger and with a view of diminishing the loss of life due to accident on railroad trains, the Chicago & North Western railroad has adopted a system of conducting rigid examinations of all employees in any way connected with the passenger service. For this purpose, an examining car is maintained on each division with an examining official in charge, and is sent from point to point on each division, the men employed in the passenger service being required to pass the tests. The examinations were voluntarily instituted by the railroad and much good is said to have already come from this work. The system has been in effect on the Northwestern road about four months, and has also been adopted by the Burlington road. The examining car was in this city recently.

All employees are required to take this examination and the questions asked are purely technical. This is no physical test, because these men have already taken that. It makes no difference if a man has been on the road fifty years or a week—he must be present and ready to pass the examination.

Conductors, brakemen, engineers, firemen, switchmen, signal men, car mechanics, bridge tenders and section bosses are all under this head and are obliged to report for these examinations at least twice a year. Each man who is questioned is required to have a thorough working knowledge as to how the entire systems operated and must answer in regard to the safety appliances and their use, and what to do in an emergency. A general review is given of the signal code.

EDUCATOR TO SPEAK AT CHURCH SUNDAY

Address Will Be Given by Dr. Robertson of North Dakota Favoring Campaign for Students' Chapel at Madison.

Dr. E. P. Robertson, president of North Dakota university, will be in this city Sunday to speak at the Car-gill Memorial Methodist church on the project to raise funds for the erection of a Methodist chapel at Madison to be located near the campus for the use of students at the University of Wisconsin. For five years past the Methodist Episcopal church has been represented by a university pastor, one of a group of men, who engage in denominational work among the students there. The work of the Methodists at the state school has been directed by what is known as the "university commission," a body created by the Wisconsin and West Wisconsin conferences, and consisting of the district superintendents, six laymen and the university pastor. The commissioners have visited the university, selected a site and are now conducting a campaign with which to raise funds to erect a church. It is to further this campaign that Dr. Robertson comes here on Sunday.

Our sausages are as different from factory made sausages as home cooking is from other kinds.

Our sausages are home made sausages and the care and cleanliness with which they are made from an old fashioned recipe we have used for years, has almost as much to do with it as the tender milk-fed little pigs whose choicest parts we use to make them of. The spices we use we grind ourselves so we know they are pure. Pure salt is the only other ingredient. Making only enough sausages each day for that day's orders guarantees their freshness. In three forms, bulk and link at 18c per pound and Little Midgets at 20c per pound.

FRIDAY

BY C. A. VOIGHT.

C. O. D. PROVISION IS TO BE FEATURE OF THE PARCELS POST

Idea Will Be Perfected By Postoffice Department and Will Eventually Be Made Part of the System.

Eggs, berries, butter and other products of the farm delivered C. O. D. to the housewives in the city by employees of the parcels post system to be established by the postoffice department after January 1, 1913, are among the possibilities of the service which are suggested in an article recently published in the R. F. D. News, a journal devoted to the interests of the rural mail carriers, in which the subject of parcels post is quite extensively discussed.

According to the article, one of the biggest features of the new parcel post system is the C. O. D. provision. Next to it is the insurance feature, the two features providing protection to the shipper in using the parcel post service.

With the perfection of the system the housewife can order her entire market list from the farmer at the price at which he sold the articles, the postman collecting the price on delivery and remitting it to the farmer.

The C. O. D. feature of the system is one of the problems now before the Postoffice Department. It may not be made effective at the beginning, but in time it will be made part of the parcel post delivery.

HOW IT WORKS.
A year ago the city of La Crosse was engaged in a vice crusade, under the direction of Dr. Anderson, the mayor. The following editorial from the La Crosse Tribune, gives results:

"A good many good people didn't think much of Dr. Anderson's idea that the laws forbidding social crime are meant to be obeyed. It has been so long a popular sophistry that 'segregation' is the salvation of the community, and that what will be will be,
be it good or bad, that people opposed to that which is bad have become satisfied to let evil exist provided it can be crowded into an out of the way corner and kept there."

"Wherever a more intelligent system has been tried it has been proven that the old theory is wrong because the evil that is crowded into the out of the way corner cannot be kept there. La Crosse has thoroughly demonstrated this fact. After one year of enforcement of Dr. Anderson's order for a strictly closed town against vice,
an order which Mayor Dengler reiterated during the police investigation, the chief of police, the police magistrate, the judge of the county court and the city attorney agree in a positive statement to the effect that petty crime in general in the city of La Crosse has decreased more than fifty per cent."

"The dignity of the law is a comparative term. The law has only that dignity which we give it through respect and enforcement. Supported and respected by the people of any community, the law is an effective instrument."

The closing paragraph concerning the dignity of law, is true to the letter. The constant violation of law soon establishes a custom, and law not only loses dignity, but becomes a by-word, and finally obsolete. That accounts for much of the trouble we are now having in the city. When law is respected it enforces itself. What we need to cultivate as a people is a more wholesome respect.

WORTH KNOWING.

Down in the Texas Panhandle, five years ago, a man was bitten by a rattlesnake. The man was an epileptic.
He recovered from the poison of the snake-bite. Two years passed and during all that time there was no recurrence of the epilepsy. Before the chance meeting with a rattlesnake on the Texas prairie he suffered from epileptic spasms every two or three days, writes A. St. Geo. Joyce in Technical World Magazine for January.
The strange coincidence between the bite of the rattlesnake and the cure of the epilepsy was brought to the attention of a Texas physician, who made a statement of the case, which finally reached the attention of Dr.
Thomas J. Mays and Dr. Ralph H.
Spangler, chief of the Medical Clinic of the Methodist Episcopal Hospital of Philadelphia, had been experimenting with rattlesnake venom in the treatment of other diseases.

Dr. Spangler had several cases of epilepsy under his care and, with the Texas instance in mind, he determined to try the effects of hypodermic injections of a solution of the dried venom of the rattlesnake. The reaction varied with each individual, but in each case there was the characteristic swelling, discoloration of the arm—where the venom was injected —and more or less severe pain. By the third or fourth day the symptoms disappeared and at the end of a week a second injection was made, at some distance from the first. Gradually, as with repeated treatments the local symptoms became less marked, the strength of the dose was increased.

The effect on the epilepsy was marked. Almost from the start the number of attacks decreased. The treatment continued and at the end of a year all of the patients were apparently cured or, at the worst, greatly benefited. Dr. Spangler has so far treated 110 patients and has administered about 2,000 injections of the venom. Institutions for the administration of the 'venom treatment' are to be opened both in Germany and Philadelphia.

SABIN HALSEY.

The death of Rev. Sabin Halsey, which occurred at his home in Oakfield, near Fond du Lac, a few days ago, removes from the state one of the old landmarks of Methodism, for the most of Mr. Halsey's long and active life was spent in the pastorate.
He served many of the best churches in the Wisconsin conference, and was at one time pastor of the old Court street church in Janesville. He preached a practical, every-day religion, which inspired love and confidence. Failing health caused him to locate on a farm which he owned, near Oakfield, and he served the little church in the town during the last years of his life. His death will be mourned by all who knew him.

One of the new reforms to be sprung
on the state is a sick benefit association, supposed to be for the benefit of employees, but of special interest to attaches of the state pay roll. The State Life Insurance company, already established, is another so-called philanthropic deal of the same character.
The country is overrun with all kinds of insurance companies now. There is no demand for more, and if there was there is no occasion for the state to engage in private business. The trend of modern reform is toward socialism. Public ownership and public control are prominent features, and Wisconsin leads the procession.

She had the softest kind of eyes,
Her finger was immense.
I wanted to wed her, but I
Could not stand the expense.

I was then gettin' six a week.
She said to run along
And try upon some other gal
My sweet and artful song.
She said that she was goin' to wed
Some older guy who earned
A hundred dollars every month,
And so my suit she spurned.

Well whist! I surely had it bad,
And life meant naught to me.
There was no gal in this whole world
At all exceptin' she.
She went and wed a canvasser,
A crayon portrait gink.
I thought that I would lose my mind
And go right on the blink.

'Twas twenty years ago that she Threw my young love away.
I never saw that gal again
Till just the other day.
She had five kids taggin' her
And wheeled two in a cart.
And didn't look much like she did
When she said we must part.

She weighs about two hundred pounds;
And I have got a bunch
That she kin knock her husband out

She's got a well-developed grouch.

She seems as though she is about
To bite a nail in two.

Wash dishes, sweep and bake.

Our Beauty Cream.

The testimonials for our marvelous beauty cream were pouring in. Here are a few of them:

"Dear Sir: I had used one box of your beauty cream and was walking down the street with my husband and a friend of his shook hands with him and said: 'Introduce me to your granddaughter, please.' May blessings be ever yours. MRS. H. G."

"Dear Sir: Your celebrated beauty cream has made me so young that I was arrested by the truant officer yesterday morning while going to the grocery. He thought I had escaped from the fifth grade. It is certainly some cream, believe me.

"MRS. T. F. D."

"Dear Sir: I cannot say enough about your wonderful beauty cream.
I was a deserted old maid of fifty-seven years when I began using it and since that I have had proposals from fifteen young men. You have got Mme. Yale and Lillian Russell beaten to a frazzle. LUCILLE"

PRICE'S CREAM
Baking Powder

Purity in food, lower cost of living—
these are the demands of the day.

Pure food is health, and health is economy itself. We cannot have health without healthful food.

The most healthful foods are the quickly raised flour foods—biscuit, cake, muffins, crusts and other pastry, when perfectly made from wholesome ingredients.

Dr. PRICE'S baking powder makes these foods in specially attractive, appetizing and wholesome form, and for both economic and hygienic reasons, such food should be more largely substituted for meat in the daily diet.

*But bear in mind that alum, or unwholesome baking powder,
can never make pure, wholesome food.*

Hanks attends all the old soldiers called in by all sick veterans as he is a veterinary surgeon. (Adv.)

ROYAL THEATER
Return date Tuesday the 17th,
"Camille" with
SARAH BERNHARDT

ROYAL THEATER
Shows on Sunday and Monday a pretty presentation in three parts of Balfe's Opera.
"THE BOHEMIAN GIRL"

NAT C. GOODWIN and Company in
"OLIVER TWIST"

Following the example of Sarah Bernhardt and Rejane the famous American comedian, Nat C. Goodwin has had himself embalmed for posterity by the moving picture camera, and will be seen as Fagin, the Jew, in "Oliver Twist" at the Royal Theater tonight and tomorrow night.

Mr. Goodwin and his company have been playing in this piece at the New Amsterdam theater in New York city with conspicuous success. Although Mr. Goodwin is the only one of the all star cast, which appear in the revival to be seen in the pictures, the other characters are splendidly taken, and the films themselves are remarkably clear and distinct, having been taken with the theatre especially lighted for this purpose.

It gives one quite a thrill to think that in years to come it will be possible to look upon these same moving photographs and see every subtle facial expression and gesture on the part of Mr. Goodwin in this, one of the most malignant and malevolent characters in all fiction. His make-up for the part is all that the imagination can conjure up, it is in fact, the real Dickens idea of the man whose name has since become a synonym for all others who have taught Youth to steal.

The entire story is given, from the birth of Oliver in the workhouse through all the scenes of horror in Fagin's den, the episodes in the home of Mr. Brownlowe and Miss Maylie, the murder of Nancy, the hanging of Sykes by his own rope, by which he expected to escape, the horrible death of Fagin, and the finding of the will which restores Oliver to his own.

It is all so vivid and the series of pictures are so aptly labeled that the continuity of the story is completely maintained, and one wonders whether in days to come folk will not do all their novel reading by means of moving pictures.

J. FRANCIS CONNORS GIVES FINE RECITAL

Talented Young Pianist Assisted by Violinist and Soloists Pleases Audience at Myers Theatre.

J. Francis Connors of Chicago, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac F. Connors of this city, entirely captivated the audience at the Myers theatre last evening with his delightful piano selections. Mr. Connors was assisted in his recital by two peerless artists, Miss Virginia Listemann, soprano soloist, and Mr. Bernhard Listemann, the famous violinist, a combination of talent such as is rarely seen in Janesville.

The interest in last evening's program, however, centered in Mr. Connors, partly from the fact that he is a former Janesville boy who began his musical career here, later achieving pronounced success in his studies in Chicago, but especially because of the exceptional excellence of his playing which at all times held the audience enraptured. Mr. Connors' selections showed a wide range and gave ample opportunity to test his abilities. His execution and skillful musicianship could be unequalled in the more serious Sonata Appassionata by Beethoven, his first selection, not only is he excellent in several of the lighter numbers such as "Satyre and Nymphs" by Juon, in the second group on the program.

With a sensitive and delicate touch every tone was clear and sweet, rounded and liquid as a harp at times, beautiful and entrancing. At both of his appearances he was insistently and appreciatively applauded and he graciously responded with encores, one of which, "The Spring Song," was one of the most pleasing of his selections. As an accompanist for Mr. Listemann and for Miss Listemann, Mr. Connors further demonstrated his superb understanding of his art, playing with rare expression and skill.

Of the other artists who assisted Mr. Connors not too much can be said in praise of their delightful work. Miss Listemann possesses a soprano voice of rare charm and power and sang with pleasing force and expression. Her enunciation was at all times clear and distinct which added much to the quality of her singing. She came in for her just share of appreciation on the part of the audience.

Mr. Bernhard Listemann, violinist, with his skillful playing, was no less pleasing than Mr. Connors or Miss Listemann. He treated the audience to the perfect and delightful rendition of a most difficult selection in "Adagio and Finales from Concerto No. 1" by Paganini. His encore was a rare treat.

All present at the concert last evening are deeply indebted to Mr. Connors for his work in making possible such an excellent musical entertainment. His many Janesville friends rejoice with him in his great success and wish him continuous achievement in his art.

MRS. W. N. MORE.

Gertrude Dykeman was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dykeman and was born Feb. 2, 1874, at Fairfield, Wis., where she spent her girlhood days.

On Jan. 22, 1894, she was married to Wilson N. More, and they resided on Mr. More's farm until four years ago when they moved to Janesville.

In early life she united with the Methodist Episcopal church at Fairfield. One year ago a surgical operation weakened her physical system and when the recent illness came upon her she lacked the vitality to fight the disease, and passed away December 3, 1912. She is survived by her husband and one son, Robert; her father and mother; two brothers, Harry Dykeman of Delavan, and James Dykeman of Sharon; and one sister, Mrs. James Gregory of Maquoketa, Iowa.

The funeral was held at the home, 332 Prospect avenue, Thursday, at 1 p. m., Dec. 5, with burial in the family lot at Johnstown, Rev. T. D. Williams, officiating. The musical numbers, "Somewhere the Sun is Shining," "We May Not Know the Reason Why," "One Sweetly Solemn Thought,"

"Not now, but in the coming years," were rendered by Mrs. W. Taylor and Mrs. G. A. Jacobs.

Mrs. More drew to herself a host of friends and she held them to the end. A large number gathered at the home and at the grave to mourn the loss of a dear friend. The home has been deprived of a loving wife and mother; the husband and son are left to tarry in the home darkened by the shadows, but the memory of the loved one will be a comforting inspiration through the years.

Brief was the married life, violent seemed the fracture, but God doeth all things well. God loaned her for a little while and the flowers heaped about her casket were in keeping with the flowers she dropped in the pathway of all who knew her.

The voice is hushed but the memory abides.

PARCEL POST RULES HAVE BEEN MADE UP

Postmaster General Hitchcock Sends Postmasters Rules Covering All Details of New Work.

Regulations to cover the workings of the new parcel post system, which is to go into operation on January 1 next, were made public by Postmaster General Hitchcock today.

The new system will be effective throughout the entire postal service at the same time and will affect every postoffice city, rural and railway mail transportation route in the country.

Every precaution will be taken by the Postoffice Department to have the mails moved with the usual dispatch and all postmasters, superintendents and inspectors have been directed to thoroughly familiarize themselves and their subordinates with every phase of the new system.

Mr. Hitchcock today expressed the hope that the public will familiarize itself with the nature of the new service before attempting to use it. Information will be available at any postoffice in the country in a few days.

Books Are Barred.

The regulations provide that parcels of merchandise, including farm and factory products (but not books and printed matter) of almost every description up to eleven pounds in weight and measuring as much as six feet in length and girth combined, except those calculated to do injury to the mails in transit, may be mailed at any postoffice for delivery to any address in the country.

Delivery will be made to the homes of people living on rural and star routes as well as those living in cities and towns where there is delivery by carrier. Where there is at present no delivery by carrier, the parcels will go to the postoffice as is the case with ordinary mail.

Five Cents Minimum.

The postage rate for the first zone—that is, within distances not exceeding fifty miles—will be 5 cents for the first pound and 3 cents for each additional pound. The rates increase for each successive one of the eight zones into which the country is divided, the maximum rate being 12 cents a pound, which will carry a parcel across the continent, or even to Alaska and the Philippines.

For a fee of 10 cents a parcel may be insured, and if the parcel is lost in the mails an indemnity to the amount of its value not to exceed $50 will be paid to the sender.

The law provides for the use of distinctive postage stamps, and there now is being distributed to postmasters for use in the parcel post system a set of stamps of twelve denominations. Parcel post maps, with accompanying guides, are to be sold to the public at their cost, 75 cents, through the chief clerk of the Postoffice Department.

Hard Job.

It is going to be difficult to get women to quit judging other women by the furs they wear.

FIRE IN WHITFORD MEMORIAL BUILDING

Evening Is Fortunately Extinguished Without Damage.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milton, Dec. 13.—The fire department was called out at eight o'clock last evening by a fire in Whitford Memorial Hall on the college campus. Fortunately it was extinguished without aid from the department.

The fire was in the ventilating shaft of the chimney, where the birds had deposited leaves, twigs and other rubbish, and in which some one evidently had thrown a lighted match. Its early discovery was a fortunate circumstance. The walls, ceiling and floor was burned to some extent. People in their rush to a fire should not forget that their help is needed in hauling the engine and hose cart and instead of running by the engine house should lend a helping hand and not oblige three or four members of the department to do this work alone.

Sons of Veterans.

A meeting was held at Odd Fellows' hall Wednesday evening to form a Sons of Veterans camp. This order is maintained to help carry on the work of the G. A. R. as their ranks grow thinner from year to year, and stands for the same advancement of patriotism and loyalty. All direct male descendants of civil war veterans are eligible to membership.

The local camp will be known as Abraham Lincoln Camp, No. 28. The following officers were elected, and were installed by State Organizer Chas. Hudson of Madison:

Commander, W. R. Root; senior vice commander, W. E. Rogers; junior vice commander, L. P. H. Root; secretary and treasurer, A. R. Saunders. Camp council: P. F. Garthwaite, D. A. Davis, J. H. Miller.

It is hoped that all persons eligible will attend the next meeting when all such may enter as charter members. The next meeting will be held at Odd Fellows' hall, Milton.

Physicians Never Prescribe Patent Medicines

For Rheumatism, Sciatica or Neuritis

But every good physician must keep abreast of the times. The success of his practice and the lives of his patients depend upon his knowledge of all about the latest pharmaceutical preparations.

And the best physicians, those that are most successful in the treatment of their patients, are generous enough, big-minded enough, to prescribe compounds that were discovered by other practitioners, provided those compounds have stood the test.

Sciatica is such a preparation. It was compounded from the prescription of a practicing physician and is entirely free from narcotics and opiates.

Nurture quickly relieves the most excruciating rheumatic pains. It prevents them from re-appearing with inclement weather.

Go to your druggist, let him explain it to you and show you what it has done. Trade your miserable aches and pains to us for a Sciatica and add your price to the rest.

GEORGE W. MUENCHOW ELECTED TREASURER

Named for Position by Mayor and Appointment Ratified by City Council This Afternoon.

George W. Muenchow was this afternoon elected to the position of city treasurer by the city council, his appointment of Mayor James A. Fathers being ratified on its submission. Since the present council took office and up to this time the city has not had an official treasurer, and the appointment at this time is made necessary by the fact that the tax collection papers must be signed by a city treasurer with full signatorial powers. The bonds held by Mayor Fathers have been transferred to Mr. Muenchow.

He will devote his entire time to the work of treasurer and enter upon his duties next Monday. Mr. Muenchow is well known, having been in the employ of F. H. Koebelin for many years. Miss Fathers, who has been acting as Deputy Treasurer will continue in that position through the period of tax collection.

HIGH SCHOOL INSPECTION NEARLY HALF COMPLETED

Visiting Nurse Has About Three Days' Work Left To Do There—Average About Sixty a Day

Medical inspection of the high school pupils is about half completed according to the city visiting nurse who has been at work there for the last four days. An average of sixty pupils are examined a day. The nurse is being assisted in her work by local physicians, who are giving their services for this purpose gratis. The physicians are taking turns in doing the work. Before beginning work in the high school the visiting nurse completed an inspection of all the pupils in the Lincoln school, with the exception of two or three that were absent. She now has a regular office hour from five to 5:30 p. m., at her office on the floor of the city hall.

Oriental Rugs

When we tell you that the Oriental Rug business is quite a game, that has been carried on successfully for years, by an army of traveling vendors and large city stores who have hoodwinked many gullible people by selling them rugs at profits that have put some vendors in the Croesus class and paid many city store losses, we know what we are talking about. The fairy tales told to people by some of the itinerant dealers make them stand aghast. The exorbitant profits represented by the prices paid for hundreds of Oriental rugs in Janesville homes would support many families through a long, cold winter. While some of this is ancient history, it is the truth. Do not throw your money away. We are thoroughly posted about the Oriental Rug business and our standing as merchants, built up over a long term of years, enables us to buy them direct from America's largest importer in New York at the very lowest cash prices, the same importing concern that supplies such houses as Wanamaker, Field, etc. We can always have any number sent out for a customer to look at. If you feel like paying five, six or seven hundred or a thousand dollars for a beautiful Oriental rug buy it at the Big Store and save two to four hundred dollars. Sounds like an exaggeration, perhaps, but we can prove to you that it is not. People are gradually getting Oriental-rug wise, but it takes time.

TO BEGIN RECEIVING TAXES NEXT MONDAY

Tax Rolls Completed Except for Tallying—Collection to Demand Additional Work.

Collection of taxes in the city of Janesville will begin Monday at which time the tax rolls will be turned over to the City Treasurer, by the City Clerk. The amount of the state and county levy was not certified to the City Clerk by the County Clerk until December 3, which made it necessary to figure the tax rolls in the short time of twelve days, but all this work has been completed with the exception of figuring the totals. Taxes will be collected up to January 31. On those paid after that date and up to March 1, the time the state and county levies are made ready for the county treasurer, a penalty of two per cent will be imposed. This is a reduction of one per cent from last year, the laws of 1911 having provided for a lightening of the penalty.

Much more labor will be involved in the work of collection this year than in former years, because of the fact that income taxes will be received at the same time as the real and personal property taxes. The City Treasurer will be assisted in this work by the City Clerk, and Councilman Cummings.

The City Treasurer is anxious to have it understood that the rebates which will be granted a portion of the tax-payers from their 1911 taxes as the result of the readjustment following the re-assessment are in the form of an extension of credit, and not a money payment as some have been led to believe. Rebates of taxes up to real estate are credited to the real estate, but not to the person who paid the tax. Hence if a piece of property had been sold after the taxes for 1911 were assessed and paid, the extension of credit would be to the benefit of the present and not the former owner. The same principle holds true with regard to additions charged where the valuation of real estate was raised by the re-assessment. In the case of personal property, the rebate or addition, as the case may be, follows the person.

Accept Washington Street Improvement

Council Adopts Reports of Board of Public Works Submitted at Special Meeting Today.

Partial acceptance of the improvement of Washington street from Mineral Point avenue to the city limits was made by the city council this afternoon through its approval of the report of the Board of Public Works, and its recommendation that certificates of special assessment be issued, to be signed and delivered by the City Clerk to Gund & Graham, the contractors. The board reported that there was due them in regard to the work of terms of their contract, the sum of $7187.53. The total amount of the contract was $12,243.83, but a flat reduction of $400 in the first proposal was made by agreement between the contractors and the city. The city will retain of this remaining sum, $11,843.83, the sum of $4676.30, of which amount $3054.30 is due the city from the contractors for 3427 cubic yards of crushed stone at 90 cents a cubic yard. The remainder of the sum, $1592.00 will be retained to cover the cost of incomplete work.

The work is practically completed except as to turning up of a portion of the beams and some irregularities in the surface of the macadam, which owing to adverse weather conditions cannot be satisfactorily completed until next spring.

Included in the actual cost of the improvement, ($11,650.38) is the payment of Ed Smith for 42 days of inspection—$102. This will be payable from the several funds in the following amounts: Certificates of Special Assessment, $7187.53; General Fund, $3172.65; First Ward Fund, $1610.65. The board reported the cost of improving Fourth Avenue from the bridge to North Main street as $388. This work was done by the city street department through a special agreement with the adjoining property owners whereby the usual formal proceedings and letting of contract under the special assessment law was dispensed with. The estimated cost of said work upon the basis of which benefits were assessed was $508.15, making the actual cost and proportionate value to the real estate especially benefited 76 1/2 percent of the said assessment. The City Clerk was directed to render bills to said property owners for proportionate amounts of actual cost and credit the same to the general fund from which the actual costs were paid.

GIVES CONCERT AT LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

Francis Connors Plays Number of Selections for Students This Morning—Miss Listemann Sings.

Recalling the high school days not so many years ago when he played the piano in the main room of the high school for the students to march to, Francis Connors very graciously entertained the students with a short program this morning. Classes were dismissed early and the entire student body gathered in the main room. The students were most enthusiastic in their applause and plainly indicated their appreciation of high class music which was gratifying to Supt. Buell and the members of the faculty. Miss Listemann, who sang several solos, was also well received.

The program was:

Piano: "Schlitten Etude in A Flat," "McDello Etude in F Sharp."

Solo: "Down in the Forest."

..... Ronald "Cuckoo" Lehmann

"O, Come With Me in the Summer night" Van der Stucken

Piano: "Love Song" Waldesrauche

Piano: "Love Song" Miss Connors and Listemann

also visited St. Joseph's convent previous to going to the high school and gave a delightful concert for the Sisters under whose tutelage Mr. Connors obtained his first musical training. It was very much appreciated by the members of the order and a very handsome tribute on the part of Mr. Connors.

The young girls who work in the Paris shops have 50 centimes to spend for their midday meal, and when a charitable society inquired as to how the money was being spent, the following list was found to embody the average: Fried potatoes or sausage, 10 centimes; bread, 10 centimes; bonbons, 10 centimes; violets or other flowers, 20 centimes. The society no longer had any cause to wonder why the girls were undersized and ill-nourished.

CHRISTMAS BUSINESS AT THE POSTOFFICE STARTS

Many Foreign Money Orders and a Few Packages Being Sent Through Mails at Local Office.

The Christmas business at the local postoffice has begun, according to Postmaster C. L. Valentine today, and foreign money orders and packages containing Christmas presents are being sent out from this city through the mail. The majority of the Christmas gifts sent across the sea are in the form of money orders, as they are more convenient gifts for the senders to make, packages having to pass through the hands of the various custom departments. Some packages, however, are being sent, but the greater portion of the foreign mail sent out at this time contains the cash gifts. Most of the orders are for good-sized sums, ranging generally from ten to twenty-five dollars in amount. The domestic mail has not been increased to any appreciable extent as yet, but shortly the usual rush just preceding the holidays will begin.

HOW, WHEN AND WHY A SECOND ADVENT

Denver Divines on Right Track, Says Pastor Russell.

No World-Burning—Satan to Be Bound—Sin, Sickness and Death to Be Conquered—Man to Be Delivered. The Power Vested in Messiah—His Kingdom Near—How It Will Appear.

Denver, Dec. 1.—This city is stirred! Seventeen pastors of all denominations have been discussing the Second Advent for a month. Now comes Pastor Russell telling us all that "The Earth abideth forever"—that it will never be destroyed by literal fire. According to him the great event of Christ's Coming will bring blessings such as we all desire. He seems to have the Bible and logic on his side too!

Pastor Russell declared that false concepts of the Second Coming of Christ had done great injury. The view set forth in all orthodox creeds is that Christ will come again in the flesh. The resurrection will take place within twenty-four hours. The saints will rise in the air to meet the Lord. Then fire will come down from heaven, and consume the whole earth. Premillennialists claim that Christ will reign in fleshly glory a thousand years to bless the living. The majority of Christians disown this as ridiculous nonsense because they believe little of creed or Bible. A minority perceive its inconsistency with the Bible.

What Bible Students Now See.
The "fire of that day" is symbolical, already kindling in society, the elements of which, Capital and Labor, are getting hotter. Soon they will melt, the symbolical "earth" will be consumed with the "heavens" also, the ecclesiastical powers. Their passing away will usher in a "new earth," or social order, and "new heavens," the Church in glory.

The Second Coming of Christ is associated with blessings. Messiah will abolish the curse and bring in wonderful blessings. The Day of Christ will be "the last Day,"—the great Seventh Thousand-year Day. All humanity will be blessed, including the dead who will then be awakened.

Christ Comes to Reign.
As the redemption was necessary for man's salvation so Messiah's Kingdom is necessary to accomplish restitution. The delay of more than eighteen centuries is Scripturally explained: (1) God designed Six Great One Thousand Year Days to teach mankind the exceeding sinfulness of sin. He purposed that on the Seventh Day the blessing of Messiah should come. (2) An important work has been done since Calvary. An Elect Church has been gathered out of all nations—saints made perfect through suffering. A Little Flock, the "Church of the First-born." These are to become the Bride of Christ at His Second Advent. The Second Coming of Jesus is to claim His Bride class, and to exalt them. As regards the world, He comes to bind Satan, to overthrow sin, and to uplift fallen humanity. St. Peter tells that Restitution work, not a literal burning of the world, awaits the Second Coming of Jesus: "Times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord."—Acts III, 19-21.

Christ's Kingdom to Be Spiritual.
One great mistake we have all made is in not noticing that Jesus was human for only thirty-three and a half years. He was a glorious spirit being before He was made flesh; and He was resurrected to a spirit condition—higher than His original one. How foolish we were to think of Jesus as a man (a little lower than angels) in the midst of the Heavenly host. He is now partaker of the Divine nature; His Church is to be "changed" and made "like Him." As His descent was from a higher to a lower, so His ascent was from a lower nature to a higher, "far above angels." His is the exceeding glory which "no man hath seen nor can see"—"which no man can approach unto."
It is this glorious Being whose Kingdom is about to be established. He and His Church will be as invisible to men as are Satan and the fallen angels. The appearances of Jesus in the flesh after His resurrection were materializations, to prove: (1) that Jesus was no longer dead; (2) that He was changed, born of the Spirit, able to go and come like the wind.

Parousia, Epiphania, Apokalupsis.
Messiah's Kingdom will have earthly representatives—the faithful saints of previous ages, raised to human perfection instantly. Through these the invisible Messianic Kingdom will operate. Jesus said, "Ye shall see Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and all the prophets in the Kingdom."

The parousia of Jesus will come first—present but invisible. The world will continue with the ordinary affairs of life (while He is gathering the Church), as in the days of Noah.

After the gathering of the Church, there will be an epiphania and an apokalupsis of Jesus. He will shine forth. He will be revealed—not in flesh, but "in flaming fire," the trouble of that Day, in which the present order will be consumed in anarchy, giving place to the Kingdom Dispensation.

Quite so.
"I beg your pardon," sang out the convict as the governor passed his cell.

At The Theatre

"THE THIRD DEGREE."
The forthcoming production of Charles Klein's latest play "The Third Degree," which the United Play Company will present at the Myers theatre, Saturday, Dec. 14, matinee and evening, should arouse the interest of every playgoer, whether or not they were fortunate enough to have witnessed Mr. Klein's former success, "The Lion and the Mousee."

In his latest play, "The Third Degree," the author has seen fit to change the locale to New York and taken for his central character members of the old Knickerbocker set.

The story deals with a young man of good parentage who is under suspicion of having occasioned the murder of a man found dead under the most peculiar circumstances. The police in their stupidity, seeking to unravel the mystery, and anxious to fasten the guilt on someone, seize upon the boy as their victim and bring to bear the entire weight of their authority to convict him. The young man's wife, seeking to aid him, solicits the assistance of his father, and being refused, sets herself to defeat the minions of the law in their efforts to miscarry justice and with no other resources than a woman's intuition, ingenuity, cunning and courage, combats them single handed. The place abounds in thrilling situations, which if Mr. Klein had never done other than to create them, would have stamped him as a dramatist of rare ability. There is an abundant sprinkling of wholesome comedy throughout to relieve the more serious dramatic scenes.

THOMAS W. ROSS IN "THE ONLY SON."

Here are three very good reasons why Janesville theatergoers are sure to enjoy the production of "The Only Son" by Thomas W. Ross and the original Chicago company at the Myers Theatre Tuesday, December 7.

First—it is by Winchell Smith, author of "The Fortune Hunter" and "Brewster's Millions."

Second—it is the most costly production of a comedy drama ever sent on the road, and

Third—it is to be played by a company of artists who have already scored personal triumphs in their respective parts.

Janesville is sure to like "The Only Son" just as it did "The Fortune Hunter" and "Brewster's Millions." And it is sure to like Mr. Ross in "The Only Son" even better than it did in "Checkers," and there are those who will never forget this young actor's breezy performance of that mirthful role.

"The Only Son" is just a trifle more serious than anything Mr. Smith has written before, but both author and actor believe that in "The Only Son" they have found their most successful play.

"A ROYAL SLAVE."

The universal praise accorded to the great romantic drama, "A Royal Slave" by the press and public for the past ten years has certainly stamped this play as one of the greatest theatrical offerings in the history of the American stage. The absorbing interest and fascinating romance of the story from which it has its source accounts in a great measure for the hold it has on the affections of the theatergoer. Allied with this is the liberality of the management in providing a most elaborate scenic setting for this play. The production in its entirety has been pronounced first-class in ever particular, and will be presented here at the Myers Theatre, matinee and night.

A. P. Gardner, congressman from Massachusetts, tells of a little shooting party which was attended by guest pointed out a distinguished-looking jurist with gray hair, and an hour or so later the divine returned his watch to him. Thrusting it back into his pocket with a contented sigh the guest asked: "And what did the judge have to say for himself?" "Shh!" said the divine. "He doesn't know I've got it back yet."

OLD AGE DEFERRED

Echo From the Medical Legal Society. A few generations back a man at 50 was considered old, gray-bearded, and waiting for death. Note the change today; at a meeting of the Medical-Legal society it was stated that a man of 50 ought to have forty good years ahead of him and, thus at ninety be in the fullness of maturity.

What if you have seen sixty, or even seventy birthdays—temperate habits, fresh air and exercise, with a simple diet and a sufficient amount of sleep will guard your health.

If perchance, your circulation is poor, if you become run down—weak and no appetite—nothing in the world will tone up those tired back-sliding organs—enrich the blood and create strength so quickly as our delicious cod liver and iron tonic Vinol.

We ask every feeble, discouraged old person in this vicinity to try Vinol on our agreement to return their money if it fails to give satisfaction. Smith Drug Co., Janesville, Wis.

HEALTH CONDITIONS GREATLY IMPROVED

State Board of Health's Report Shows Improved Safeguards Have Been Enforced With Beneficial Results.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Dec. 13.—A story of largely improved safeguards for the public health, lessened contagious disease, and the state's paternalistic care of the poor people of Wisconsin who need the healing hand of science is told in the biennial report of the state board of health and the state bureau of vital statistics, issued by Secretary C. A. Harper today.

The record for 1911 shows that 2405 packages of antitoxin serum for indigent persons were supplied to local boards of health, and that 1,035 were furnished in the first six months of 1912. The total cost was $4,288.70. The ordinary retail price would have been $15,942.50. The saving to the poor persons who received its benefit is represented to be $11,653.80. In a little over two years 228 persons were treated for rabies at the Pasteur Institute at a cost of less than $5,700. The regular price for such treatment would have been $34,200, the reduced rate meaning a saving of $28,500 in treatment charges alone. Poor people are treated free.

The Pasteur institute records show that 206 persons were bitten by dogs, three by cats, seven by cows, six by horses, five by human beings, and one by a pet monkey. One animal bit eight persons. Each of seven animals bit seven persons. The board warns against unmuzzled dogs.

In 1911 contagious disease cases were reported in the following number: Diphtheria 2,287; typhoid fever 1,039; whooping cough 612; smallpox 527; measles 4,678; tuberculosis 928; meningitis 48; acute anterior poliomyelitis 70. Only two deaths from smallpox in 1911 were reported. The board says there is a widespread regard by physicians of the law requiring them to report cases of tuberculosis. In Milwaukee county last year only 641 cases were reported while the mortality statistics showed 599 deaths from the disease. Based on a mortality rate of 20 percent, 1,000 cases should have been reported. Generally speaking, there is a decline in contagious diseases.

The state hygienic laboratory in the first six months of 1912 received and examined 3,044 specimens for diphtheria, tuberculosis and typhoid bacilli and for rabies, and treated seven patients at the Pasteur institute in the same period. Over 2,000 doses of typhoid vaccine were furnished by the laboratory since Jan. 1, 1912.

142 Babies Aged 15 Months. Sixty-four applicants for embalmers' licenses were examined in 1911, of which number 21 failed to pass. There are now 332 embalmers holding state licenses. The 1911 receipts to the credit of the embalmers' fund were $1,273 and the expenses $1,062.03. The expenses of the state board of health and the state bureau of vital statistics from July 1, 1911, to June 30, 1912, were $12,287.26.

In the period from July 1, 1909, to June 30, 1911, approximately 220,000 certificates of births, deaths and marriages were reported in Wisconsin. Every day of the year an average of 142 babies born in Wisconsin. Deaths of children under one year of age average fifteen per day. The report states that 10.5 percent of the children born each year die before reaching the age of one year. The board declares that infant mortality is the subject of serious consideration.

DAILY DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN Food Specialist

TWO-MEAL PLAN INDORSED.

"Diet has more to do with the making of great men or the deteriorating of the human race to the level of the brute than anything else." This was the opinion expressed by Dr. F. B. Turk of Chicago, at the recent meeting of the Mississippi Valley Medical association. "Compare that armor-plate mince pie diet indulged in by all America," said he, "with the two, same meals a day that are enabling Turkey to produce the finest specimens of physical manhood in the world." Doctor Turk's opinion and the reasons for the superiority of the two-meal system have been frequently stated in these hints. "As strong as a Turk" is a popular phrase. The superiority of the diet of the Turks who have not entirely adopted western customs, is in its simplicity. I have frequently referred to the fact that many of them do the hardest work on dates and milk.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Cost of Green Coffee Advanced For months the green coffee market has been in a disturbed and anxious condition. This year's crop threatens to be short, owing to unfavorable weather conditions. Prices of green coffee have been advancing, while manufacturers and merchants have been buying their supplies in limited quantities—from "hand to mouth," as the saying is. The retail prices on many grades and brands of coffee already have been advanced.

Higher Prices or Poorer Coffee When green coffee advances, the coffee roaster or merchant is given his choice of doing one of two things: First—He can advance the price of the finished product to cover the advance in the cost of the raw material, and continue to give the consumer the same quality as before. Second—He can continue to sell at the old price by substituting a cheaper and inferior grade, giving the consumer a poorer coffee at the price he is accustomed to paying. Whichever the manufacturer or merchant does, the consumer must pay the advance in price of raw material.

Mex-O-Ja Coffee Never Varies in Quality Before Mex-O-Ja Coffee was placed upon the market, a definite policy of price-making and price-maintenance was decided upon, and it has since been rigidly observed. The quality of Mex-O-Ja Coffee never varies. It is always the same high-grade blend of Sao Paulo and Mexican varieties. You can buy a package of Mex-O-Ja today, tomorrow or next year, anywhere, any time, with supreme confidence that it will have the same fine flavor, the same delicious aroma, the same all-round satisfaction-giving qualities in the cup, that its use has led you to expect.

Justice to All Price and Quality Always Right The idea back of the merchandising of Mex-O-Ja is justice to all—to consumer, to merchant and to manufacturer. Our advertisements state that the retail price is subject to revision according to the supply of raw material. The present price of green coffee makes it necessary to advance the price of Mex-O-Ja to 32 cents a pound. The retailer cannot pay any more for Mex-O-Ja Coffee than he has been paying and sell it at the old price. His profits were none too large before the advance, and they will be none too large when you pay 32 cents a pound.

Remember that when green coffees advance in price, all roasted coffees advance in price. When the cost of green coffee goes lower, the retail price of Mex-O-Ja will be lowered. At the new price, as in the past, Mex-O-Ja continues the best coffee value for your money that you can buy.

A New First Aid for the Christmas Shopper

WHAT would be the very best first aid to the Christmas shopper that you can think of?" propounded the ingenious girl to the group of friends about the fire.

"A new set of feet," replied one wearily.

"An unlimited bank account," said another.

"Weeks of about fourteen days just now," suggested a third.

"Oh, don't prolong the agony," groaned the crowd.

"I think it would be to know what each of your friends most wants," said the ingenious girl. "The very first question that pops into your head in regard to Christmas giving is what to give. There's more wear and tear on your brain cells, and more sleepless nights, over what to give, I think, than over any other problem connected with the whole affair. And then in spite of all your worry, half the time you don't give the most wanted thing. Now if there was a way to find out the thing that was most wanted, wouldn't that be the very best 'First Aid' the Christmas shopper could have?"

"You'd have to be a mind reader to do it," said one.

"That's it exactly," returned the ingenious girl. "What's the use of all this scientific investigation of telepathy, if we aren't going to make any use of it? What we want to do to solve this Christmas present problem satisfactorily is to sit down, set the telepathic waves to going, put our ear to the wireless receiver, as it were, and hear what our friends are thinking they want."

"Pshaw!" said one. "I thought you were going to suggest something sensible."

"There is more in heaven and earth than is dreamt of in your philosophy, Henrietta," quoted the ingenious one. "Why don't you give it a trial anyway? If there is anybody yet whose gift is undecided—"

"Is there?" chorused the crowd woefully.

"Sit down and put your mind on trying to make them think what they want. And see if in a little while you don't get an idea of something to send, that you would have thought of yourself. You mustn't have any ideas in your mind. Just let your mind be blank."

"That part is easy enough," said one.

"Suppose you wanted something awfully bad yourself, could you mentally suggest it to some one?"

"You might," replied the ingenious girl. "Why not try it?"

"I am going home," exclaimed one of the crowd rising, "and command silence throughout the house, while I sit with tense brows and listen for telepathic Christmas messages. If any of you suddenly feel an uncontrollable desire to let me know what you want, you may know I am working on you. And for goodness sake send a reply by wireless at once."

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

A NEWS ITEM AND A LETTER.

THE other day I was grieved to see in the paper an item to the effect that an old friend of mine who had been married about twelve years, had just been granted a divorce from her husband. The grounds were incompatibility. The divorce was uncontested. It was evidently one of those cases in which the two parties have mutually agreed to disagree and to ask the divorce courts to let them do it.

As I read the news item, there flashed into my mind a conversation I had with my friend about four years after she was married. We were speaking of another young woman who had been married about the same time and had two babies, and of the fact that my friend had no children. "Oh yes, I'm fond enough of children," she said, "but you know, Fred and I are unusually devoted, and I don't want any children because I'm afraid they will come between us and spoil our comradeship."

That was eight years ago. Today the other woman has a family of five beautiful sons and daughters, a very happy home and a devoted husband. While the woman who didn't want children to come between her and her husband has neither home nor children nor husband.

Yes, children often do come between husband and wife, but nine times out of ten they come between them as a bond infinitely more powerful and enduring than mere vagrant desire.

I thoroughly believe that it is well if a young couple can have a year or two to get used to married life and adjust themselves to each other before they add to their responsibilities. But the couple who think of marriage as a pleasant companionship which babies would spoil, are steering away from a comparatively harmless Scylla to a deadly Charybdis.

About once in so often I have such interesting letters from my letter friends that I can't keep them to myself. The following is one of these:

"I want to thank you for the remarks of today in regard to the unmarried woman. I have been repeatedly struck by the persistency with which the writers and speakers on this subject treat the unmarried woman's condition as entirely a matter of choice—as if every woman in an office or business position of any sort had deliberately selected that sort of life rather than matrimony and motherhood."

"I am more and more sure that there are very few women that in their hearts would not prefer husbands and homes and babies to any sort of outside work, provided the husbands are men, rather than brutes on the one hand or weak overgrown boys on the other."

"The fact of the matter is, I verily believe, that a big proportion of the women are so much more intelligent, more self-respecting, and more decent than the men (the corresponding proportion of men) that there are not enough even passable men to go around. I know nothing of the big cities, but I do know some of the small towns, and as I look about I see a number of well-poised, intelligent, self-respecting, wholesome young women at work in different office or other positions—or living at home, for the same thing holds good with those who do not work, to a great extent—for whom I absolutely fail to see any corresponding group of possible husbands. Even the possible husbands of some of these very same young women (who, of course, might be possible husbands for others of the group) are in many instances absolutely 'no good.'"

"Putting aside aside all question of economic conditions in considering the working woman of the better class, it does certainly seem that there will have to be a bigger proportion of upright and clean-living and well-working men, before the 'bachelor woman' is to be seriously blamed for her own condition in life. Better to have no babies than that they should have a selfish, careless, spineless, dissipated father, even though the greatest joys of life be never tasted."—A Working-Woman.

Little Roast Pig.

A pig for roasting should not weigh over six or seven pounds after it is cleaned.

Lay the pig, which has been prepared by the butcher, in cold water for 15 minutes, then wipe dry, inside and out. Rub inside with a little salt, pepper and powdered sage.

Make a dressing: One quart fine breadcrumbs, one-half cup melted butter, one chopped apple, one chopped onion, two tablespoons chopped parsley, one tablespoon lemon juice, salt and pepper to season and milk to moisten.

Stuff the pig to its original size and shape. Sew it up, bend forelegs backward and back legs forward under him, and skewer. Cover ears and tail with buttered paper and put a piece of hard wood between the jaws to keep them open.

Dredge pig with flour, olive oil, salt and pepper and place in a hot oven. Roast from two to 2½ hours. Remove papers from ears and tail and cook about 15 minutes longer.

Arrange on a large hot platter, a border of quartered cooked sweet potatoes.

tatoes, sliced lemons and sprigs of parsley. Lift the pig onto the platter. Remove the stick from the mouth and replace it with a lemon or apple. Serve with gravy and tart apple sauce.

Eggless Fruit Cake.

One pound fat salt pork, chopped fine; pour one pint boiling water over and let stand till cold; one pound seeded raisins, one pound currants; cut up one-fourth pound citron, chop one cup walnut meats, stir one large teaspoon soda into one cup Orleans molasses, one pound brown sugar, one teaspoon each of cloves, cinnamon and nutmeg. Stir all ingredients together, adding flour to make stiff batter. Bake in bread pans for two hours in very slow oven. Will make three loaf cakes and will keep for a year.

The Table.

Cream Pie—Line a pie plate with rich crust and bake. Filling: two eggs, using the whites for frosting; 3 tablespoons sugar, heaping tablespoons cornstarch, piece of butter size of walnut, pinch of salt, 2 cups milk; cream together and cook in double boiler. When removed from fire add 2 teaspoon lemon. Pour in crust. Whip 1 of vanilla. Brown in hot oven. This makes a large pie.

Oatmeal Squares—Make rich biscuit dough, roll it out almost as thin as pie crust, then sprinkle liberally with fine cut oatmeal, roll again, cut into squares, then bake quickly and serve hot with butter. The oats bake into a crust so appetizing that you wish they were all crust.

Economy Cakes—I have an original economical sweet cake for the little ones (grown-ups like them, too). Make a rich quick biscuit dough, add two cups light yellow sugar, as many seeded raisins as you can conveniently stir in, and stir in a small handful of little bright red cinnamon drops (candy). Make it all with the spoon and drop in spoon patties in a dripping pan. Sprinkle each with granulated sugar and bake. These are simply great.

The KITCHEN CABINET

IT is well to know something about everything and everything about something.

FEEDING THE FAMILY.

Food is not necessarily nutritious in proportion to its cost.

Protein foods are those more expensive and complex, such as meat, cheese, eggs and milk. Carbohydrates are the starch foods, such as potatoes, rice and macaroni.

Brain workers need easily digestible food; muscle workers and coarser foods better suited to their needs.

It is not necessary that any one meal of the day be balanced, but each day's dietary should contain proteins, fats and carbohydrates in the correct proportion, which is one part protein to five or five and one-half parts carbohydrates.

We should not forget that butter, eggs and milk, in combination with other foods, count as foods.

Diet should be varied as well as mixed, substituting rice and macaroni for potatoes.

Plant protein, such as peas and beans, take the place of meat. When the meat allowance is small, these vegetables should be used rather than cabbage, beets or turnips.

By planning meals several days ahead it will be easier to arrange a rightly balanced and varied diet.

The water in which most of our vegetables, all of the starches and cereals, as well as meats are boiled or cooked, should be saved, as they are valuable foods in themselves.

Do not serve a heavy dessert when a hearty dinner has preceded it. Likewise, never precede a hearty dinner with a cream soup. Over-eating is not only a willful waste of food, but is the cause of many ills that our flesh is heir to. It has been repeatedly proven that one-third of our food cut out would give us better health and greater efficiency as to mental and physical labor.

An excess of meat or other animal food is especially bad, as that which is not assimilated clogs the system and causes auto-intoxication, or, in plainer words, self-poisoning.

It is not possible to fix a dietary standard, as there are so many things that enter in to qualify it. Age, climate, occupation and health are some.

Into this hole put a little mayonnaise and a slice of stuffed olive. On a plate put a paper dolly and arrange the sandwiches tastily on it. Pimento cheese may be used instead of Philadelphia cream, or chopped pimientos from the can may be used in the plain cheese Chives when in season may be used instead of onion.

Ham Sandwiches.

Materials—Cold boiled or baked ham, 1½ lb.; cold boiled tongue, 1½ lb.; cold chicken, 1½ lb.; hard boiled eggs, 4, soft mustard, 1 tsp.; chopped capers, 1 tsp. salt and paprika, mayonnaise, bread, butter.

Utensils—Food chopper, mortar and pestle, cakes, measuring spoon, stew pan, sharp bread knife, spatula, spoon, vegetable press.

Directions—Chop the meat fine, pound and mix well in a mortar. If you do not have a mortar and pestle put the meat through a chopper two or three times and work well with the back of a spoon. Season with mustard, salt, paprika and capers, moisten well with mayonnaise; chop the waives of eggs fine, add to this and mix all well together. Put the yolks of the hard boiled eggs through the vegetable press or sieve, season with salt and paprika, and mix with sufficient mayonnaise to spread. Cream the butter, as usual. Cut thin slices of bread, spread with the creamed butter. On one slice spread the meat mixture, on the other the egg mixture. Press well together, wrap in oil paper and pack. Be sure these (in fact, all sandwiches) are moist. Anything but a dry sandwich.

If preferred, ham alone may be used with perfect results, either sliced or chopped and well seasoned. If lettuce is used with them shred it fine.

"Pacifier" Not Good.

A "pacifier" is the worst thing for a baby to use, as it will strain the muscles of its throat and the lower shape of the mouth and will cause adenoids when the child is older.

Anticipation.

Mrs. Justwed—Just think of it, dearest one! Twenty-five years from day before yesterday will be our silver anniversary!—Judge.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS
BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson—How can I take rust stains out of a pale lavender dress without taking the color out?

ELIZABETH.

Anything that will take out the rust stain will also take out the color. But you might try sprinkling the stain with salt moistened with lemon juice; then lay in the sun. The method is slow, but is least likely to injure color or material.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man of twenty-two and have kept company with a young lady of twenty for about three years. She moved away about six months ago. I have a good position at $65 a month and there has been a mutual understanding between us that we will be married in about two years or so—nothing definite, however.

Is it proper that I should keep company with young ladies now on an average of once a week or more on certain occasions, such as theatre, club dances, etc. Should I expect the same of the young lady I have first mentioned? I can get along nicely on $30 a month. Would you advise me to save the other $35 monthly or start to buy little things of future use?

My advice to you, Johnny, is to have a definite understanding with the girl at once, and announce your engagement. Don't wait that "two years or so." Make up your mind to get married as soon as possible and plan to use that $30 extra together.

Not a Rarity.

Funny how many men there are can tell you a day or two after the election that they knew it would be that way and that so-and-so would be elected. And you can always find them, too.—Covington News.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, Dec. 13, 1872.—Medal for the Little Champion: We saw, yesterday, a massive silver medal, of handsome workmanship, which was given to the Harris Manufacturing Company, of this city, by the McHenry County (Ill.) Agricultural Society for the best reaper exhibited at the trial of the society, summer, before last. The inscription on the medal runs as follows: "Awarded to the Little Champion Reaper at trial July, 1871, for best combined reaper and mowder." McHenry County Agricultural Society, 1871. It was awarded to the right machine.

Brief items: St. George Society celebrates New Year's eve with an English supper and dance.

The passenger train from Milwaukee to Monroe was delayed several hours last night by an accident to a freight train near the eastern terminus of the road.

At the close of Dr. Fowler's lecture at the Court street M. E. church this evening, the ladies of the church will furnish oysters in the Sunday school room of the church.

The members of the First M. E. society subscribed $1,700 at the dedicatory exercises yesterday forenoon and evening, which is fifty dollars more than was called for.

A small fire among some articles of clothing in one of the upper rooms of the residence of Edward McKee on Main street, last night, caused the inmates of the building to move around lively for a few minutes. A lighted candle and a boy going to bed did the mischief.

UNCLE WALT The Poet Philosopher

Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams
BY WALT MASON

The saddest spectacle I know is Reggie Wax, a man I know—a man of tender years; he's only twenty-two or three, yet he's as tired as man can be of this poor vale of tears. He's trotted, with the giddy boys and sampled all the empty joys and bright light brands of mirth; and now he looks with deep disgust at everything upon the crust of sad old Mother Earth. He has the cheap John cynic's sneer for everything that's worth while here, by wiser folk adored; with a jaded, a dismal grin, so badly is he bored. The man whose course is safe and sane will reach old age and not complain of life as being flat new joys each dawning morning brings, he chortles and he smiles and sings, and throws aloft his hat. Each day to him is a delight; the mystic wonder of the night, the hymns by breezes sung, the suns that sink and rise again, the beauty in the souls of men, all keep his spirit young. The Sabbath singing of the choir, the weekday evenings by the fire, grandchildren at his knees; the quiet joys, the peaceful ways, the memories of happy days—ah, who should tire of these? How pitiful the jaded soul who thinks the world a place to dole when life is in its vigor, who sees his cheerful fellowmen, and like a jackal in its den, sends forth a growl of scorn!

Set Age Limit on Marriage.
According to Russian law no man or woman who has attained the age of eighty can contract a legal marriage. No other country nowadays imposes such a restriction. In ancient Rome, however, legislation on this point was even more stringent, the maximum age limit for men being sixty and for women fifty.

THE DAILY NOVELETTE

EDYTHE'S LAPSE.

"Life is thus and so to a Swiss: A bucket o' woe to a Handful o' bliss."

Everybody was in the air about it. Edythe, always considered by her friends the most sensible member of the Spuffenhose family, was losing her mind! So, at least, the neighborhood whispered. It was said that she began to talk queerly the day after Percy Shovelkritz asked her to come to his arms and be his and she went to his arms and said she would.

After an appropriate luncheon of nuts and things, Edythe's mother, worried something awful, took her to the doctor's.

Dr. Dr., abbreviated Mrs. Spuffenhose wildly. "I am afraid you are losing her mind, losing her mind—Oh! dear, she's got me doing 'it'!"

"My dear young lady," said the doctor as he chewed absently on his stethoscope, "what seems to be the trouble?"

"Ummykins bummykins tootey too!" said Edythe dreamily.

"Lunacy, pure and simply," remarked the doctor.

"Especially simple!" wailed Mrs. Spuffenhose.

"Daddy twetwets la!" observed the beautiful girl suddenly.

For the doctor had been pushed open and handsome Percy Shovelkritz was in the room.

"Yummy booly sugarums goo!" he cooed.

"Mummmmm twetwies twet!" replied Edythe, and they were in each other's arms before one could have said "Jack Robinson," if one wanted to say such a thing.

Silently, Mrs. Spuffenhose and the doctor stole from the room, knowing that all was well, if not better.

Be careful how you commit yourself and what schemes you are led into, lest you find yourself too much involved. In material things you will be fortunate and your year will be a prosperous one, and losing her mind—Oh! dear, she's got me doing 'it'!"

HIS RISE TO POWER

By HENRY RUSSELL MILLER, Author of
"The Man Higher Up"

Copyright, 1911, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

Of John Heath you have never heard. Unhonored and unused until this hour, he has remained in that shadowy obscurity for which he was designed. And no man ever saw him.

It was at a crucial time for those whom this chronicle concerns when Jerry Brent and John Dunmeade were marching from Dan to Beersheba and back and laboring with a patience worthy of larger results, to rally the slender hosts of reform; when Stephen Hampden was risking his all in one wild throw for vast fortune and Warren Blake was following that daring example; when the Consolidated Coal Company was making many happy by declaring a dividend of 7 per cent.

In the kingdom things were awry. The rival monarch was thundering at the gates. Worse still, there was disaffection in the very source of dominion, in the army. And the minister in power chose this hour—to get drunk! Anxious glances were being cast toward the deposed minister in his self-exiled exile. Royal messengers were being sent galloping post-haste to him to urge him, with fine, unconscious irony, for the sake of past favor, to speak the word that would restore concord among the multitudinous regiments. But the ominous silence continued unbroken.

At such a juncture, we say, John Heath stepped in to deflect the course of history.

Came to the exile, not many days after Miss Roberta, a messenger not under royal seal. Secretary, we may call him, to the new minister, having carried favor by desertion of the old. He was visibly perturbed and would not desert from his importunities until admitted to the presence of the exile. Even then, such was his feverish haste, he did not notice in his host, as Miss Roberta had done, a vigor inconsistent with certain rumors rife. He plunged at once into the matter in hand.

"We've got Sherrod locked up in a room at the hotel. He's drunk as a lord and threatens to throw himself into the river!"

"Well—let him," said Murchell, grimly heartless.

"But," cried the messenger, "it may be something to bring on a revolution that will sweep us all—Sherrod, Parrott, me—you—off the face of the earth."

"I," responded Murchell calmly, "am out of politics and don't care. What do you want me to do?"

"Come with me to the capital, and what's wrong and straighten it out."

"Go to Parrott."

"Parrott's a fourdasher. This is critical."

"I won't do it. It's trouble of your own making. Get yourselves out of it."

The messenger sprang to his feet and began to pace the floor swiftly. He assumed to instruct a master. With wild gesticulation and passionate phrase he sketched the impending calamity. The times were ripe for a revolution. These unutterable fools, Dunmeade and Brent, with their incessant clack about bosses and graft, were getting the people stirred up. There was trouble in the air—he, the speaker, could feel it. The organization was falling to pieces.

"Do you think," Murchell inquired calmly, "Sherrod's short in his accounts?"

"I don't know. There are books I can't see without exciting suspicion. And I can't get nothing out of him."

The swift pacing ceased abruptly. The messenger confronted Murchell.

"Who," he demanded, "is John Heath?"

"I don't know," answered Murchell truthfully.

"Within less than two years he has received from the state more than a hundred thousand dollars for special services!"

"Nine hundred thousand dollars! What is John Heath?"

"I don't know. But I think he may be—h—!"

The messenger dropped into his chair.

helping himself, uninvited, to a cigar Murchell, as though taking up a task that the other had left unfinished, rose and in his turn began to pace the floor. After a few minutes he went out of the room, still without speaking. He did not reappear for almost a quarter of an hour. But then he wore a hat and an overcoat and was carrying a light leather grip.

"Come along," he commanded. "The back's waiting."

The guest went along with alacrity. When they had reached the Steel City and had changed cars for the capital train Murchell went to their stateroom and was soon, to all outward appearances, sound asleep.

At that mystic hour which we are told is the darkest of all two men were sitting in a hotel room. One, Watkins, sat stretched out before the dying fire, yawning wistfully for the sleep of which twenty-four hours' guard duty had robbed him. A litter of newspapers on the floor around him showed how he had becalmed the slow vigil. The other, Sherrod, was slouched in a rocker by the table, head drooped forward on his breast and hands hanging inertly at his sides. The red rimmed eyeballs were half closed. Drunk evidently, and more than that. Occasionally his lips moved; senseless mutterings came from them.

Steps along the hall, and there was a guarded knock at the door. He opened a cautious crack, peeped out and then threw it open eagerly. Murchell and the messenger entered. Watkins seized Murchell's hand firmly.

"Thank the Lord!" he exclaimed. "I couldn't have stood it much longer."

Sherrod seemed to hear the voices. He opened his eyes and stared at the newcomers glassily. Then a lightning flash of intelligence seemed to penetrate his stupor.

"Murchell!"

He managed to stagger to his feet. Then a last wave of drunkenness swept over him. He fell sprawling, unconscious on the floor.

"He ought," said Murchell, "to have a Turkish bath."

CHAPTER XV.

John Heath Makes Restitution.

TEN hours later Sherrod opened his eyes. He started up, with a groan, and beheld the man who sat by the window. The man—Murchell—heard the movement and came to the bedside. He stood looking down pitilessly at the half-recumbent, sick man. Sherrod stared back, with bewildered, fearful eyes, for a moment. Then, with another groan, he fell back. His parched lips tried to frame a question, but nothing came of the effort save a dry, croaking sound.

Then Murchell spoke. "Who," he demanded, "is John Heath?"

A spasm of fear, even more acute, contracted Sherrod's face.

"What do you know?"

"Who," Murchell repeated, still in the pitiless tone—"who is John Heath?"

"He is—the political account."

But by that time Murchell was well on his way back to the capital.

A rumor that the once great politician was on the train quickly spread among the passengers, and many of them found occasion to stroll past his seat. But there was no visible ripple of emotion to betray to their curious eyes the swelling sense of triumph within him.

When his energy sapped up by the sickness, the seriousness of which he did not yet realize, he had confronted Sackett and declared his purpose to quit, he had spoken in all truth; but the operation over and strength creeping back into the body whose tissues austere living had never devitalized, the hunger, the need for action reasserted itself.

Hence he planned, not consciously to renege his old power and responsibility, but from his castle in the forest to make sudden, unexpected forays to harass those who had deprived him of his glory. Then came the opportunity to wreak the sweetest of all revengees, to save those who had thrown him over, to torture his enemy with the sense of inferiority and obligation, perhaps the warrior soul leaped to make of revenge also a lever to open the gates in the road back to supremacy.

Under the stimulus of sharp, successful action he felt almost the strength of his prime. Whirling wheel struck from rail an iron song of triumph in which his soul joined—the mad, exultant shout of the viking returning victorious.

But he found a Sherrod who had had time to think, to measure the situation, who had recovered his nerve. And of

"Three hundred thousand—about. I don't know—exactly."

"Where are they?"

"In my private safe at the office."

Murchell turned sharply and left the room. Almost at once he was back, accompanied by Watkins. "Give Watkins the combination," he commanded. There was another moment of hesitation, of inward struggle. But a great fear was upon Sherrod, swallowing up even hate and anger. He mumbled the combination.

"Have you got that, Watkins? Then you and Palne fetch here all the securities in the safe. Everything you can find. Be quick."

Watkins obeyed, as promptly and unquestioningly as the soldier on the field of battle obeys his superior officer. As he went he found time to wonder how the impression had ever got abroad that this man of instant decision, of crisp orders, was a useless victim of the decrepitude of age.

"Wh—what," Sherrod quavered, "are you going to do?"

Murchell shook his arm free. "I am going to get you out of the middle you have got yourself into, you!" He left the sentence uncompleted, as though he could think of no adequate epithet. Sherrod stared foolishly, trying to comprehend the incomprehensible—that the man above him, who least of all the world owed him service, would lift him over the impasse around which he lay. Then suddenly he broke into tears and mumbled babblings—explanations, contrition, gratitude, promises mingling disconnectedly.

Murchell listened in cold contempt. "You don't mean a word you say," he interrupted the flow at last. "You're only a coward frightened out of his wits. You'll be the same treacherous hound when it's over—I'm not doing it for you."

He turned and went out of the room, not to return until Watkins and Palne, the messenger, arrived with the securities.

An afternoon train, rolling down out of the hills into the flat lands, bore William Murchell to the city that had witnessed the last step in his overthrow. A cab took him, by appointment, to the home of Philip Wilder, where he lay overnight. Philip Wilder was not a monarch, to be sure, but he was a prince of the blood, and he ruled over a province of street railways. Many things did this princely gentleman desire, and for them he was willing to pay—the least price that must be paid.

He, like Miss Roberta and Watkins, was astounded when he beheld, not a shuffling, harmless shadow, but a man who showed the marks of age, battling, yet was clear minded, hale and hearty, who had not forgotten how to drive a close bargain, who knew exactly what he wanted and who got it. So pleased was he by his discovery that the next morning, breaking a solemn promise to Murchell, he reported it to Sackett. "Richard," he declared, "is himself again."

But by that time Murchell was well on his way back to the capital.

A rumor that the once great politician was on the train quickly spread among the passengers, and many of them found occasion to stroll past his seat. But there was no visible ripple of emotion to betray to their curious eyes the swelling sense of triumph within him.

When his energy sapped up by the sickness, the seriousness of which he did not yet realize, he had confronted Sackett and declared his purpose to quit, he had spoken in all truth; but the operation over and strength creeping back into the body whose tissues austere living had never devitalized, the hunger, the need for action reasserted itself.

But he found a Sherrod who had had time to think, to measure the situation, who had recovered his nerve. And of

"Who," he demanded, "is John Heath?"

"Of which you're the political account?"

Sherrod's lips formed a soundless "Yes."

"How much are you short?"

"Nine hundred thousand dollars."

"What have you got to show for it?"

"Some securities—all stocks."

"Worth what?"

Consumption

Anyone interested in the treatment of Consumption should get one of the books of Eckman's Alternative. Coughs, Stomach troubles and Bronchitis may be the beginning of more serious troubles. Eckman's Alternative is the effective remedy. Read Mr. Kanaly's statement:

Saratoga, N. Y.

"Gentlemen: For five or six years I was troubled with cough and expectoration. I also had a high fever. My case was declared Consumption by my physician. I was given Cod Liver Oil, Croscote and other remedies, all without benefit.

"At Christmas time, 1908, I was not expected to live. Calling Dr. R. H. McCarty, he advised the use of Eckman's Alternative, which I took with excellent results, and was entirely cured. I have gained in weight. I go out in all weather and have had no cough or cold whatever. I give these facts to encourage others to use Eckman's Alternative."

(Signed) ALFRED JAS. W. KANALY.

Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in rebuilding the system and curing nervous prostration, or habit-forming drugs. Sherrod took this may be written: he was a great fighter, cunning and daring, conscienceless, proud, disloyal—yes—but even his treacheries were accomplished with a certain reckless grace and decision that gave them the seeming of the born master's instinctive strategy. And he had what Murchell had not, a personal magnetism that often won faith even where interest failed; though he lacked what made Murchell great, inflexibility and self control. Coward he was not. Almost any man, beaten by the same knowledge of crime and imminent discovery, with so much to lose, would have suffered a lapse from courage. But the hour of cringing and weakness was past.

Murchell found him in the same hotel room, through the open windows of which a biting wind had swept the last trace of the fetid fumes of tobacco and whisky. Murchell carefully closed and locked the door and, without speaking, sat down across the table from him. Sherrod's eyes, cool, not defiant, but aggressive, menacing almost, locked with Murchell's steady ones.

"Well!" The voice was cool.

"I went to Wilder," said Murchell, almost in a whisper. "He is selling your securities today at the market. He will lend you the balance. Tomorrow a man will come with the cash."

"And in return?" Sherrod knew the price.

(5) Ought all those in the church who will insist upon doing things unbecoming a Christian to be expelled? Why?

(6) What should be our personal attitude to those who will insist upon doing us injury?

(8) What is the real theory of the Roman Catholic church concerning the forgiveness of sins, and what is the difference between that and the absolute pronouncement by the Anglican church to those who truly repent?

(9) Verse 19.—If two Christians are in accord in prayer for any particular thing may they depend with absolute certainty without any other consideration that their prayer will be granted? Give your reasons.

(10) Verse 20.—In what sense is Christ present where two or three are met in his name, as he is not at any other time?

(11) Verses 21-22.—How many times ought we to forgive one who persists in sinning against us?

SEMI-CENTENNIAL OF THE FAMOUS BATTLE OF FREDERICKSBURG

Old Soldiers Commemorate the Famous Fight on December 13th, 1863.

Janesville veterans of the Second, Fifth, Sixth and Seventh Wisconsin regiments in the civil war, recall that today is the semi-centennial of the famous battle of Fredericksburg, fought December 13th, 1863. Company D of the Second and Co. E of the Fifth were both recruited in Janesville.

Fifty years ago today, almost without sight of the national capital, was fought the great battle of Fredericksburg. The battle was one of the severest of the civil war and the resultant victory one of the most notable achieved by the arms of the Confederacy.

Fredericksburg lies on the south bank of the Rappahannock River, 65 miles north of Richmond, and on the shortest railroad route to that city from Washington. Besides this fact, the vicinity of Aquia Creek, on the Potomac—furnishing an excellent base of supplies—made movement on Richmond by way of Fredericksburg more feasible than by any other route.

After the battle of Antietam, General McClellan, still in command of the army of the Potomac, occupied Harper's Ferry. After a delay of over a month, he crossed the Potomac in pursuit of General Lee, who rapidly retired to the Rappahannock. The town of Warrenton, about 50 miles southwest of the national capital, was the place selected by General McClellan for the concentration of his army.

On November 7, General McClellan was relieved of his command, and General Ambrose P. Burnside reluctantly accepted it. General McClellan's plan of campaign was changed. After reorganizing the army into three grand divisions, under Generals Hooker, Sumner and Franklin, General Burnside began the famous movement against Fredericksburg, the purpose being to cross the Rappahannock at the city and to crush the two wings of the Confederate army in detail, as they were at that time fully two days' march apart.

By November 19, General Burnside's army occupied the heights opposite Fredericksburg, but a delay of nearly a week was occasioned by the failure of the pontoon-train to arrive from Washington.

The Confederate army had, however, been just as rapid in its movements and had already seized and fortified the heights behind Fredericksburg. General Burnside, noting the changed aspect of affairs, the enemy was now combined, hurried to Washington and expressed doubt as to the advisability of attempting to cross the river, since General Lee's force had not been separated. He was urged, however, to go on, and returned to conduct the advance.

It was not until Dec. 11, owing to the incessant rain, that General Burnside gave orders to cross the river at Fredericksburg, and attack the Confederates. The pontoons were laid with great difficulty and considerable loss, nearly the entire day being consumed in the effort, thwarted by the fire of the Confederates concealed in houses in Fredericksburg.

General Franklin crossed below Fredericksburg, without loss, on the morning of the 12th. The two armies were now ranged opposite each other south of the city; the Confederate lines occupying the naturally strong position along the crest of the hills, with an open plain in front. Their forces numbered 80,000 strong.

General Longstreet's corps occupied the height known as Mary's hill, while "Stonewall" Jackson lay farther to the right in front of Franklin's grand division.

The Federals were formed with General Sumner on the right, General Hooker in the center, and General Franklin on the left. The battle was opened by Franklin about 9 o'clock on the morning of the 13th and continued in a series of ineffectual attempts to dislodge the Confederates until night.

On the morning of the 14th General Burnside was only prevented from renewing the attack by the united disapproval of his corps commanders. On the 14th and 15th the armies were quiet, a truce being obtained by the Federals to bury the dead. On the night of Dec. 15 the Federals retired across the river, and on the 15th the Confederates again occupied Fredericksburg.

The Federal losses in the engagement were 1180 killed, 9028 wounded, 2145 missing, a total of 12,353. The Confederates lost 593 killed, 3961 wounded and 653 missing, the total being 5,207.

As a result of the great disaster much dissatisfaction and insubordination were manifested among the Federal troops, which increased until General Burnside felt compelled to issue an order, subject to the President's approval, dismissing several officers from the service and relieving others from duty. This, however, was not approved, and shortly afterwards General Burnside gave up the command and General Hooker was appointed in his place.

TODAY WAS LAST OF THE HOODOO DATES

Friday the Thirteenth Will Not Come Again Until June 1913 a Genuine Jonah Day.

...B-e-w-a-r-e! This is Friday the 13th! But, thank goodness, it is the last "hoodoo" day we will have this year. Next year only one Friday falls on the unlucky number. It is June 13, 1913.

Yesterday was Dec. 12—on, written in business form, 12-12-12. No triple set of numerals will be seen again until Jan. 1, 2001, which may be written 1-1-1.

Christmas shoppers took warning and kept their clutches tightened on handbags and pocketbooks.

The superstitious dread of the number 13 seems to have spread over the earth. It is said Italians never use it in making up the numbers for their lotteries; that the thirteenth card in one of their games bears the figure of Death, and that no house in Paris is

No. 13. The Quatorziemes are persons known in Parisian society who hold themselves in readiness to go to any dinner which otherwise would have the fatal 13 at the table.

MRS. LA FOLLETTE FAVORS ELECTION LAW CHANGE

Suggests That Primary and General Elections Be Held in June and July.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Dec. 13.—Mrs. Robert M. La Follette, wife of the Wisconsin senator, heartily seconds the suggestion for a later inauguration, and in this connection proposes that the primary and general elections be held in June and July.

"The only way to meet the farmers' objections to a summer date for elections is to work out a plan by which the rural voter need only go to his mail box to cast his vote.

"Why not reorganize this whole business of inauguration, elections and beginning of congress on a national basis?" says Mrs. La Follette.

"Must we go on forever, suffering the inconvenience of dates so badly adjusted to our present-day life, just because they were written in the constitution over a hundred years ago? If all the states would hold their primaries in June and July and have congress convene the first Monday in October instead of December, it would bring the session of congress in the liveable part of the year in Washington."

REQUESTS WISCONSIN TO PROVIDE FOR AN EXHIBIT

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Dec. 13.—Charles C. Moore, president of the 1915 Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco, has written to members of the next Wisconsin legislature informing them that upon the convening of the session next month a bill will be introduced in both houses calling for an appropriation to defray the expense of Wisconsin's participation in the exposition. Their support is asked. President Moore states that so far thirty states have taken action looking toward participation.

Two Generations Are Now Using It

Nation's Most Popular Laxative Keeping Millions of American Families in Good Health.

There must be genuine merit to an article that has stood the test of two generations of users.

In the field of medicine none has had greater success, nor retained that success to a greater degree, than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is now being used by two generations of people. Its use in families is constantly becoming more general. The reason, primarily, is that it has merit. It is what it represents itself to be, a laxative-remedy. It does not hide behind the name of a well-known fruit or vegetable; it does not make exaggerated claims nor use coarse language to set forth its virtues.

It is a medicine, but so mild and gentle a medicine that thousands of mothers give it to tiny infants, and yet, in a slightly larger dose, it is equally effective for grown-ups. It is for any disorder of the stomach, liver or bowels, for constipation no matter how chronic, for dyspepsia no matter how severe, for biliousness, sour stomach, gas on the stomach, headaches, drowsiness after eating, and similar complaints arising from a clogged-up condition of the bowels. It is pleasant to the taste and does not gripe. It can be used with safety and good results by anyone at any age or in any condition of health, and that person's health will improve. Every druggist sells it and the price is only fifty cents and one dollar a bottle.

Thousands of families throughout

DR. CALDWELL the country are never without it in the house, among them, Mrs. Viola Leonard, Bangor, Mich., and Mrs. Lydia Atkins, 11350 Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill., and these have learned to avoid the use of cathartics, salts, purgatives and physics generally, as they are entirely too harsh. Syrup Pepsin cures gradually, but the cure is comfortable, safe and permanent. If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 413 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.
